Following Collect's debut, new pieces are added to the home accessories line.

After Collect debuted its offering of beautifully crafted soft furnishings and home objects, the line has expanded with the addition of six new pieces. Each are crafted with the same commitment to superior quality and timeless design, with new materials – including bronzed brass, glass, and travertine rock – added to its luxuriously rustic aesthetic.

Take the coat hooks, which come either as a single unit or in a row of five. Available in three colours – Tarnished Silver, Bronzed Brass, and Aged Brass – this hand-polished piece offers a stylish solution to the practicalities of wall protection. A bronzed brass candleholder comes in three sizes that fit neatly together; whether purchased singularly or as a trio, they provide a handsome addition to a home that will evolve as the brass develops. And an object, also crafted from bronzed brass, adds similar aesthetic impact: deploy on a shelf as a bookend or simply enjoy it as a striking objet d'art.

Crafted from 100% extra-fine Merino wool, a woolen blanket boasts two-tone colouring that deftly interweaves contrasting hues. Differing shades on the front and back present the opportunity to switch its identity. Linked together with a slim stitch, then treated under heat, the result is an extremely soft waffle structure blanket. It is available in four earthy tones – Cloud & Milk; Cloud & Willow; Cloud & Hazel; and Cloud & Amber – and boasts Oeko-Tex certification.

The glass vases, which are mouth-blown in Turkey, lend a sculptural element to any interior. Made from three layers of premium quality glass, the result is a unique thickness and unusual nuance of colour that comes in three options: Clear; Smoked; and Caramel. They are available in four sizes: 24x20cm; 40x18.5cm; 50x19cm; and 60x28cm.

A hand-polished plate, crafted from unfilled travertine, is equally distinctive. Because of the natural patterning of this stone, each plate is a uniquely textured piece worthy of being displayed in the home as art.

Designed by Space Copenhagen, this elegantly understated collection reflects the studio's commitment to quality and longevity. Founders Signe Bindslev Henriksen and Peter Bundgaard Rützou wanted to create a cohesive offering of home accessories that would bring comfort to any interior. Their intuitive approach, coupled with a belief in slow aesthetic, results in contemporary designs with timeless appeal.

“As architects, our work pivots around spatial composition and ambiance as we seek to create harmony in a space,” Henriksen and Rützou explain. “This collection of home accessories became a natural extension of that – an architectural fragment that softens and completes the atmosphere that we are always striving to create.”

Each piece from &Tradition Collect was designed to be easily mixed and matched with others. Purchase individually, or buy any number of pieces, to inject a sense of quiet luxury into the home.

Founded in 2005, Space Copenhagen works across multiple disciplines, from furniture and lighting to art installations and interior design. Their intuitive approach, coupled with a belief in slow aesthetic, results in contemporary designs with timeless appeal.
